

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A video encoding method comprises selecting, from predictive modes, a predictive mode, computing a first cost of encoding based on a predictive mode, computing
5 a second cost of encoding based on a direct mode, comparing the second cost with the first cost to determine an optimum predictive mode, and encoding the pixel block by the motion compensation predictive encoding according to the optimum predictive mode.